FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

In All Kinds of Weather

Opening Reception: Thursday, Dec. 12, 6-10pm

Gallery Protocol is pleased to announce In All Kinds of Weather, an exhibition organized in collaboration with Haynes Riley, curator and director of Good Weather, North Little Rock, AR. The exhibition includes works from artists featured during Good Weather's first year in operation including Lauren Cherry, Jenny G, Tony Garbarini, Talon Gustafson, Layet Johnson, Ian Jones, Daniel Roberts, Max Springer, Erin Sweeny, Ezra Tessler, Katie Wynne, and John Zane Zappas. Drawing, painting, sculpture, installation, and video work will be on display. The exhibition opens Thursday, Dec. 12 and will be on view through Jan. 8, 2014. An opening reception is scheduled for Thursday, Dec. 12, from 6 - 10 pm.

Representing a broad range of materials, styles, and working methods, the artists in In All Kinds of Weather are united by a spirit of composed playfulness and unrestrained experimentation. As described by Riley, these are "pertinent and challenging works of art..." which, nevertheless, meet the standard of Good Weather's overarching mission by "embodying an earnest desire to positively impact the environment in which [they] live." In In All Kinds of Weather the new and unconventional, so often portrayed as strange or frightening, are found to be inviting—presenting the audience with opportunities for engagement and discovery.
